SIR,

I have the honour to state that Messrs. Md.Abdul Qudir and P.Rajamannar Naidu were appointed Finance Probationers in G.O.No. 3433-42/E.A.G.285 dated 5th May 1919 and No.558-60/EAG 285 dated 30th August 1919 respectively and they reported themselves for duty in this office on 12th May 1919 and 5th September 1919 respectively. According to the rules prescribed in Government Order No.G.9060-9102 G.M.401-16-1 dated 2nd January 1917, the probationers are expected to pass the prescribed departmental examinations within 2 years from date of their joining the department, failing which the period of probation may be extended by another year. Both the probationers sat for the S.A.S Examination held in April 1921 but were not able to secure a pass. As they obtained the marks prescribed for the Accountants' Examination, they were both declared to have passed the Accountants' Examination. In 1922 Mr. Rajamannar Naidu sat for the S.A.S. Examination but failed. Mr. Abdul Quadir could not sit for the examination as he had been selected to undergo training in Commercial Accounts at Bombay in G.O.No.Fl.5100/G.F.140-20-2 dated 10th February 1921 and could not return before the date of the examination. The case of these probationers is similar to that of the first batch and though both are graduates they had no previous experience of Accounts work before they came to this office and could not therefore pass the examination in spite of their best efforts. They have however been doing their work satisfactorily. Mr. Rajamannar Naidu has proved himself a capable Superintendent and has been well reported upon by every officer under whom he has served. Messrs. K.S. Aiyar & Co., report very favourably about Mr. Abdul Quadir and say that he has every chance of passing the Government Diploma in Accountancy Examination next year (Vide this office No.1937/ES dated 26th May 1922). As their reports are thus good and both have qualified themselves by passing the Accountants' Examination, they may be counted against the vacancies of 1st Grade Accountants' posts on Rs 100 so that no extra cost may be caused to Government and their period of probation extended by two years to enable them to pass the S.A.S. Examination, as in the case of Messrs. H.V. Venkatarama Iyengar and D. Mahabala Rao (G.O.No.Fl. 8218/GF 175-19-5 dated 8-5-1920). The period of probation will then expire on 12th May 1923 in the case of Mr. Abdul Quadir and on 5th September 1923 in the case of Mr. Rajamannar Naidu, the former being for purposes of cost counted as a First Grade Accountant in the vacancy of Mr. A. Narasiah compulsorily retired from 26th April 1922 and Mr. Rajamannar Naidu in the first vacancy in the 1st Grade Accountants that may arise. I request that my recommendation may be kindly approved by Government.

2. I may mention in this connection that Mr.Abdul Quadir who appeared for the last Government Diploma in Accountancy Examination held in April 1922 wants to continue his studies in Bombay on his own account and pass the examination and has applied for the grant of combined leave for 1 year to enable him to study for the examination. I have granted him 2 months and 15 days privilege leave in addition to the furlough for 4 months and 4 days admissible to him, leave without allowances being granted for the remaining period.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Comptroller.

Mr Abdul Quadir and mr Rajamannar raidu reported themselves for duty in the Comptroller's office on 12.5.1919. and 6.9.19. As they have not passed the S.A.S. Examination necessary for confirmation within the period of probation (ie 2 years) (as per G.O. 2 6/17) the Comptroller requests sanction for the continuance of the period of probation for another 2 years: the probationers being counted as posts in the 1st grade Accountants vacancies on Rs 100 as they have passed the accountants Examn. The Collectors in which such a concession was shown to messrs Venkataramanayya & Mahabal Rao is put up along herewith. (vide page 5 for note)

The Comptroller proposes to absorb in any the two probationers in an existing vacancy & the two in the next vacancy to occur. They are drawing Rs 100 and the Comptroller's recommendation is to absorb them on the same rate of pay. This proposal may be approved as it does not cost Govt.

After the two probationers fully qualify themselves by passing the S.A.S. Examination they will be eligible for the appointments of Supdts in the Comptroller's office. The Comptr recommends that they may be given time for one more year to pass the examination. This recommendation may also be sanctioned.
